WRIGHT'S

Parlor Meeting.

The children of the neighborhood gave a parlor entertainment on Friday evening at the home of Rev. McClure on Brunswick Ave., that was in every way most creditable. There were songs, charades, tableaux and recitations during the evening, which the children, and grown folks too, enjoyed. The excellent program concluded with a magic lantern exhibition by Land Haenau, which was the crowning feature of a most delightful evening for the little ones.

Light refreshments were served by little Miss Elizabeth McClure.

Club Entertainment.

Miss Edith Jackson, who always entertains with simplicity and elegance, was the agreeable hostess to a limited number of married ladies on Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 4, and from 4 to 6 the Sons' Social club was entertained in a most delightfully informal manner. The pretty rooms were fragrant with sweet peas and nasturtiums. Garden seats and chairs were arranged upon the attractive lawn with perfect freedom. A number of ladies assisted the hostess in doing the agreeable. Among them were Mrs. Harry Gephart, Miss Jennie Marmaduke, of St. Louis, and Miss Mary Breathed, of Nelson.

An impromptu musical program was well rendered by the following artists, and was a special feature of the occasion: Misses Ruth Strong, Fannie Francisco and Katherine Cordell gave several vocal numbers in a masterly manner. Miss Abbott, who has a fine contralto voice, sang several numbers that were much enjoyed. Miss Maud Patterson's instrumental numbers were listened to with rapt attention.

A bowl of fruit lemonade was served from a recess in the hall, by Miss Mary Breathed and others, and was most refreshing. Refreshments of brick cream and a variety of cake were carefully served, and with happy repartee and much good cheer the evening passed pleasantly away.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. A. A. McGreedy, Fulton; Mrs. G. Loeh, Smith, Kansas City; Misses Annie Langan, Denver; Kate McRee, of Paris, Mo.; Pearla Strother, Fresno, California; Lavinia Verby, Decatur, Texas, and Jennie Marmaduke, St. Louis.
